Law Practice

Chester is a trial lawyer who focuses his practice on all areas of commercial, financial, and real estate litigation. He represents commercial landlords in disputes against tenants, including forcible entry and wrongful detainer actions and lawsuits seeking damages for breach of lease and breach of personal guarantees. He also advises insurance companies on coverage matters, and litigates those matters as well. Additionally, he represents professionals, including accountants and lawyers, in malpractice and related actions. He also defends businesses, including financial institutions and the accounts receivables industry, in federal and state consumer protection proceedings brought by regulators and private parties.

Representative Cases

Obtained dismissal on personal jurisdiction grounds of lawsuit seeking six figure recovery based on unjust enrichment and constructive trust theories.

Obtained judgment in property manager's favor with respect to claims made by invitee for damage to vehicle caused by allegedly

Education & Bar Admissions

Chester earned his undergraduate degree in economics, cum laude, from The George Washington University. Later, he graduated magna cum laude from Lewis & Clark Law School. At Lewis & Clark, he was named a member of the Cornelius Honor Society, a group of students selected by the law faculty for their scholarship, leadership, and contribution to the law school community. During law school, Chester worked as a law clerk for the Financial Fraud and Consumer Protection Section of the Oregon Department of Justice. He also served as Associate Editor of Environmental Law, the nation's oldest law review dedicated solely to environmental issues.

Chester is admitted to the Oregon State Bar, and the United States District Court for the District of Oregon.

Professional

Chester sits on the Board of Directors of the Community for Positive Aging - Hollywood Senior Center, a local non-profit that provides community, resources and nourishment to support the emotional, social and physical well-being of aging adults. He is also a member of the Multnomah Bar Association and the American Bar Association.

Personal

Outside of the office, Chester enjoys running, playing pick-up basketball, and playing the guitar (with all EQs at noon and just a little bit of reverb). In a past life, Chester wrote short fiction and essays. He hopes to publish some of his work one day.

Presentations

“The Management Accountant’s Ethical Approach to Litigation: The Statement of Ethical Professional Practice and its Application to Litigation” – March 17th, 2021

Chester and Amber presented to IMA members on what plaintiffs, defendants, and expert witnesses can expect from a lawsuit, including what they wished their clients had known before they called with a problem.

“Additional Insured Issues in Washington and Oregon” – November 14th, 2019

Chester spoke at The Seminar Group’s Northwest Insurance Law Seminar. He spoke about issues related to additional insured endorsements, recent Oregon court decisions implicating the duty to defend, and the scope of “ongoing operations.” The presentation can be viewed here.
