Law Practice

Jordan is an associate attorney and 2024 graduate of the University of Oregon School of Law.

Prior to law school, Jordan worked as a litigation specialist in the organized criminal enterprise unit for the United States District Attorney's Office in the Western District of Washington. He also served in the US Army for six years as an EOD Technician where he responded to and disarmed unexploded military munitions and homemade explosives.

During law school, Jordan was the captain of the law school's arbitration team, which competed in regionals, as well as captain of the Sports & Entertainment team that competed at the Tulane International Baseball Arbitration Competition, a simulated salary arbitration competition modeled closely on the procedures used by Major League Baseball (MLB).
